

NINTI ONE LIMITED: ABORIGINAL COMMUNITY RESEARCHERS

Research in remote Australia, especially with and for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people, is part of Ninti One's core business. Ninti One recognises that the goal of sustainable and healthy remote communities is intrinsically linked with the participation, ownership and partnership of the residents of those remote communities.

Ninti One has extensive experience in the mentoring, support and employment of Aboriginal Community researchers.

NINTI • INNOVATION
ONE • FOR REMOTE
• AUSTRALIA

www.nintione.com.au

PARTICIPATORY ACTION RESEARCH AND TRAINING ESTABLISHES STRONG OWNERSHIP FOR LOCAL COMMUNITY RESIDENTS AS PAID RESEARCHERS AND PRIMARY STAKEHOLDERS OF RESEARCH PROJECTS.

NINTI ONE ABORIGINAL COMMUNITY RESEARCHERS AND FACILITATORS:

- Provide intercultural guidance, cultural liaison, consultation and interpretation services.
- Use a range of skills and literacies, and contribute to all phases of the research including the design and fieldwork in their communities.
- Are skilled in undertaking high quality research including surveys, face-to-face interviews, focus groups, cultural analysis and reporting.
- Are experienced in monitoring and evaluation, sample collection, mapping and logging data.
- Are proud to be undertaking research work which will benefit people living and working in remote Australia.

(Cover image) Photo by Judy Lovell

CONTACT DETAILS:

Kay Nevill

Research Coordinator-Remote Communities

Phone: 08 8959 6039

Email: kay.nevill@nintione.com.au

www.nintione.com.au