

REMOTE AUSTRALIA ONLINE:

Your navigation tool for knowledge on remote Australia

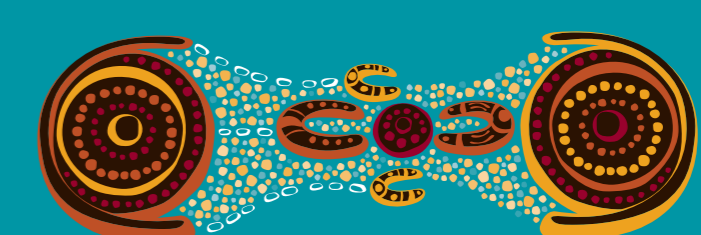

Remote Australia is a vast and complex area. To create opportunity, foster social inclusion and drive economic development in this region, you need a comprehensive knowledge base to drive change.

Remote Australia Online is exactly that. It's an online platform that delivers authoritative research on topics that impact this region and its people, including education and its pathways, policy, business, social and cultural welfare, infrastructure, communication and natural resource management.

Data about remote Australia is also represented in a graphical form through our Remote Australia Online Atlas, incorporated within this resource. Remote Australia Online is for those who want to delve deeper into the complexities of remote Australia: its intricate and interconnected networks, the geographical, social, cultural and environmental influences, its opportunities, challenges, and to understand just what makes this unique region tick.

www.nintione.com.au

Photo by Tim Acker.

NINTI • REMOTE
ONE • AUSTRALIA
ONLINE